Alumni board

The 2005-06 Humphrey Institute alumni board held its first meeting on September 27, 2005. At a retreat in August, the board decided to maintain focus on key areas through the committees established during the strategic planning process in 2004. For biographies of current board members, meeting schedules, and committee activities, visit www.hhh.umn.edu/alumni/2005_06_board/index.html.

Does your organization work in the community?

The Humphrey Institute is seeking alumni participation in a project to highlight alumni at work and in action in the Twin Cities community. In particular, we want to identify alumni and organizations whose work shows prospective students the diversity of the Twin Cities. We would like your photographs and short descriptions about your career to use in our recruitment brochures and on the Humphrey Web page to encourage students to pursue careers in public service. If you are interested in participating, please contact Julie Harrold (MA '90), director of admissions and recruitment, for more information.

The Hubert H. Humphrey Institute of Public Affairs, the University of Minnesota's public affairs graduate school, prepares individuals for public service and designs more effective public policies and institutions. The Institute offers four graduate degree programs and is home to several research and outreach centers and programs.

While hospitable to a wide range of viewpoints, the Humphrey Institute does not take positions on issues. The University of Minnesota is an equal opportunity educator and employer.

Recruitment event November 1

The Humphrey Institute will host a national recruitment event for the Association of Professional Schools of International Affairs (APSIA) on Tuesday, November 1, from 5-7 p.m. at the Humphrey Center. Please encourage your colleagues and employees who are interested in graduate school opportunities in international affairs (including those offered at the Humphrey Institute) to attend. For more information on APSIA, visit www.apsia.org.

Apply for the Alston/Bannerman Fellowship

The Alston/Bannerman Fellowship Program is committed to advancing progressive social change by helping to sustain long-time activists of color. The program is designed to give activists the financial support and freedom to "take a break and recharge."

Each year, 10 organizers of color working for social change on a broad range of issues are awarded the Alston/Bannerman Fellowship. Fellows receive $15,000 to take sabbaticals of three months or more. Previous fellows have worked on issues from environmental justice to fair wages, from immigrant rights to native sovereignty, from political empowerment to economic revitalization. Fellows have the freedom to use their sabbaticals however they think will best re-energize them for the work ahead.

To qualify for an Alston/Bannerman Fellowship, an applicant must be a person of color; have more than 10 years of community organizing experience; be committed to continuing to work for social change; and live in the United States or its territories. Both individuals for whom organizing is a full-time job and those for whom it is voluntary work done outside of their employment are eligible to apply.

Visit the program's website for complete fellowship guidelines, application materials, and information on previous recipients.

Public and nonprofit leadership and management concentration courses sought

The Humphrey Institute faculty seek alumni assistance in expanding the current course list for the concentration in leadership and management of public and nonprofit organizations. They are responding to a request from many master of public affairs and master of public policy students for a more complete listing of course options outside of the Humphrey Institute.

If you have taken a non-public affairs course at the University of Minnesota that you think would be an appropriate course for the leadership and management concentration, please send the following to Barbara Sullivan: course department, number and title, instructor, and a brief explanation of why you think it is a good fit.

To learn more about the current concentration offerings, please see www.hhh.umn.edu/img/assets/3788/Management%2004.pdf.

Mentor Corner

Mentors needed for 2005-2006. Deadline: October 14.

The Humphrey Institute alumni mentor program begins its 19th year this fall. Alumni in all policy areas are welcome to participate either in our domestic policy mentor program, in which local mentors work one-on-one with students, or in the new global policy mentor program, in which international policy professionals in Minnesota and around the world work with a group of Humphrey students interested in international policy. If you are interested in participating in the 2005-2006 alumni mentor program, please contact Michelle Potter by Friday, October 14.

CAREER SERVICES

The Humphrey Institute Office of Career Services serves alumni As employers, helping you connect with Humphrey Institute students and graduates for jobs and internships and as job seekers, when you are in search of the next opportunity. For more information, see www.hhh.umn.edu/career.

Career advisor joins career services staff

We are delighted to announce that Martha Krohn joined the Humphrey Institute in the newly created role of career services adviser on September 19. Martha recently has completed a master's degree in counseling from St. Mary's University of Minnesota and has experience in employment counseling at both Metropolitan State University and the University of St. Thomas. In addition, she brings 20 years of human resources and managerial experience from the private sector to her new field of career development. Martha will coordinate the Humphrey Institute's growing internship program, as well as working with individual students and alumni on career counseling issues.

Developing a graduate internship program

The Humphrey Institute is interested in developing on-going internship programs with organizations that would benefit from the work of a capable graduate student and could provide substantial, professional experience to enhance a student's education. If you want to discuss the possibility, please contact Martha Krohn.

Post jobs and internships at no cost on the Humphrey Institute website

If you have a job or internship opening for which the Humphrey Institute talent pool would be a good match, you can post directly on the career services website at www.hhh.umn.edu/career/humphrey_career_employers.html. Click on "Register for the First Time" in the Employer Login box. There is no charge to post positions to the Humphrey Career Link alone. We use NACElink software, so please note the charge if you post to multiple schools. Beginning in 2006, we will transition to Gold PASS, a University of Minnesota-wide posting system to create a one-stop-shop for employers. Watch for more information in upcoming issues of News & Views. If you have any questions about posting or on-campus recruiting at the Humphrey Institute, please contact Jane Vega.

December alumni gathering in Washington, D.C.

Lynne Schuman, director of career services, will be in Washington, D.C., December 5 through 9. The Humphrey Institute plans to organize an informal alumni get-together around her schedule. Please contact Michelle Potter if you are interested in attending a happy hour so we can contact you with the date, time, and location as the event approaches.
