

Fall 2021 – PA 5022 Section 02

Labor Market Consequences of Economic Policies

Course Overview

The class will cover the labor market consequences of key economic policies.

The topics will include issues such as:

- minimum wages,
- the pandemic's policies,
- unions,
- noncompete agreements, and
- occupational licensing.

These issues and other policies will be evaluated in the context of current macroeconomic approaches to the economy to include income inequality, economic growth, and labor market concentration.

Mondays, 6:00 - 8:45 pm

Instructor is Morris Kleiner
